HOW ZERO SADDLES MATCH RIDER FOCUS

ZERO SADDLE SYSTEM

The type of saddle you need depends on the type of bike you ride, how you ride, and your body shape. As your body rolls back on a saddle into an upright position your sit bones widen and apply downward pressure so comfort becomes more important. Comfort is provided by width, padding and flex. When you roll forward into a more performance, aerodynamic position your sit bones narrow and you need a narrower saddle with less padding while still retaining vibration absorption qualities.

WOMEN SPECIFIC

Additionally women have a different sit bone shape to men so they tend to need shorter, wider saddles with more scalloping which is why we do women's specific saddles.

WHY SADDLE SHAPE IS IMPORTANT

Some riders prefer to move around on a saddle in several positions during a ride and will find a flat seat like Zealth more comfortable on both mountain or road rides while others tend to remain in one position and will prefer a round saddle like Zelix. For that reason Zealth and Zelix are interchangeable between riding styles to suit the individual rider.
